

A very rich Lotterie generall, without any Blanckes, contayning a great number of good Prices, aswel of redy Money as of Plate and certaine sorts of Marchandizes, hauing ben valued and priced by the commaundment of the Queenes most excellent Maiestie, by men expert and skilfull: and the same Lotterie is erected by hir Maiesties order, to the intent that suche commoditie as may chaunce to arise thereof after the charges bozne, may be conuerted towarde the reparation of the Havens, and strength of the Realme, and towarde such other publique good woorkes. The number of Lots shall be foure hundreth thousand, and no more: and euery Lot shall be the summe of Tenne shillings sterling onely, and no more.

Three Welcomes.

THE FIRST person to whome any Lot shal happen, shal haue for his welcome (bysides the aduauntage of his aduenture) the value of fiftie poundes sterling in a piece of syluer Plate gylte.

THE SECOND to whome any Lot shall happen, shall haue in like case for his welcome (bysides his aduenture) the summe of thirtie poundes in a piece of Plate gylte.

THE THIRD to whome any price shal happen, shall haue for his welcome (bysides his aduenture) the value of twentie poundes in a piece of Plate gylte.

The Prices.

WHOSOEVER shall winne the greatest and most excellent price, shall receiue the value of Five thousande Poundes sterling, that is to say, Three thousande Poundes in ready Money, Seuen hundreth Poundes in Plate gylte and white, and the rest in good Tapissarie meete for hangings and other couertures, and certaine sortes of good Linnen cloth.

VVHOSOEVER shall winne the second great price, shall haue the value of Three thousand and five hundreth Poundes, that is to say, Two thousand Poundes in ready Money, Six hundreth Poundes in Plate gylte and white, and the rest in good Tapissarie and in Linnen cloth.

VVHOSOEVER shall winne the third great price, shall haue the value of Three thousand Poundes, that is to say, A thousand & five hundreth Poundes in ready Money, five hundreth Poundes in Plate gylte and white, and the rest in good Tapissarie and Linnen cloth.

VVHOSOEVER shall winne the fourth great price, shall receiue the value of Two thousand Poundes, that is to say, One thousand Poundes in ready Money, foure hundreth Poundes in Plate gylte and white, and the rest in good Tapissarie and Linnen cloth.

VVHOSOEVER shall winne the fifth great price, shall receiue the value of One thousande and five hundreth Poundes, that is to say, Seuen hundreth and fiftie Poundes in ready Money, Three hundreth Poundes in Plate gylte and white, and the rest in good Tapissarie and Linnen cloth.

VVHOSOEVER shall winne the sixt great price, shall receiue the value of One thousand Poundes, that is to say, five hundreth Poundes in ready Money, Two hundreth Poundes in Plate gylte and white, and the rest in good Tapissarie and Linnen cloth.

VVHOSOEVER shall winne the seuenth great price, shall receiue the value of Seuen hundreth Poundes, that is to say, foure hundreth Poundes in ready Money, One hundreth Poundes in Plate gylte and white, and the rest in good Tapissarie and Linnen cloth.

VVHOSOEVER shall winne the eight great price, shall receiue the value of five hundreth Poundes, that is to say, Two hundreth and fiftie Poundes in ready Money, One hundreth poundes in Plate gylte and white, and the rest in good Tapissarie and Linnen cloth.

VVHOSOEVER shall winne the ninth great price, shall receiue the value of foure hundreth Poundes, that is to say, Two hundreth and fiftie Poundes in ready Money, One hundreth Poundes in Plate gylte and white, and the rest in good Tapissarie and Linnen cloth.

VVHOSOEVER shall winne the tenth great price, shall receiue the value of Three hundreth Poundes, that is to say, Two hundreth Poundes in ready Money, fiftie Poundes in Plate, and the rest in good Tapissarie and Linnen cloth.

VVHOSOEVER shall winne the eleuenth great price, shall receiue the value of Two hundreth and fiftie Poundes, that is to say, One hundreth and fiftie poundes in ready Money, fiftie Poundes in Plate, and the rest in good Tapissarie and Linnen cloth.

109
VVHOSOEVER Shall winne the twelfth great price, Shall receive the value of Two hundredeth Poundes, that is to say, in ready Money One hundredeth and fifty Poundes, and the rest in good Tapissarie and Linnen cloth.

VVHOSOEVER Shall winne the thirteenth great price, Shall receive the value of One hundredeth and forty Poundes, that is to say, One hundredeth Poundes in ready Money, and forty Poundes in Plate, Tapissarie, or Linnen cloth.

TVVelve prices, every pryce of the value of One hundredeth Poundes, that is to say, Thre score and Tenne Poundes in ready Money, and Thirtie Poundes in Plate, Tapissarie, or Linnen cloth.

TVVENTY and foure prices, every price of fifty Poundes, that is to say, Thirtie Poundes in ready Money, and Twenty Poundes in Plate, Tapissarie, or Linnen cloth.

THREE score prices, every price of foure and twenty Poundes and Tenne shillings, that is to say, Seuentene Poundes in ready Money, and Seuen Poundes Tenne shillings in Plate.

FOVRE score and ten prices, every price of Two and twenty Poundes Tenne shillings, that is to say, fiftene Poundes in ready Money, and Seuen Poundes Tenne shillings in Plate.

ONE hundredeth and fourtene prices, every pryce of Eightene Poundes, that is to say, Twelue Poundes in Money, and Six Poundes in Plate gilt and white.

ONE hundredeth and twentie prices, every price of Twelue Poundes and Ten shillings, that is to say, Seuen Pounds Ten shillings in Money, and fiue Poundes in like Plate.

ONE hundredeth and fifty prices, every price of Eight Poundes, that is to say, fiue Poundes in Money, and Thre Poundes in Linnen cloth.

TVVO hundredeth prices, every price of Six Poundes Tenne shillings, that is to say, foure Poundes in Money, and fifty shillings in Linnen cloth.

THREE hundredeth prices, every price of foure Poundes Ten shillings, that is to say, fifty shillings in Money, and forty shillings in Linnen cloth.

FIVE hundredeth prices, every price of Thre Poundes Ten shillings, that is to say, forty shillings in Money, and Thirtie shillings in Linnen cloth.

FIVE hundredeth prices, every price of the value of Thre Poundes in Plate.

FIVE hundredeth prices, every price of fiftie shillings in Money.

TVVO thousande prices, every price of Fortie shillings in Plate.

SIX thousande prices, every price of fiue and twentie shillings in Money.

TEN thousand prices, every price of fiftene shillings in Money.

NINE thousand, foure hundred and Eightene prices, every price of Fouretene shillings in Money.

AND all the rest to the accomplishing of the aforesayd number of Lottes, shal be allowed for every aduenture at the least Two shillings & six pence in ready Money.

¶ Conditions ordained for the aduantage of the Aduenturers in this Lotterie, besides the Prices before mentioned in the Charte.

THE Queenes Maiestie of hir power royall, giueth libertie to all maner of persons that will aduenture any Money in this Lotterie, to resort to the places vnderwritten, and to abyde and depart from the same, in maner and forme following: that is to say, to the Citie of London, at any time within the space of one Moneth next folowing the feast of S. Bartholomew this present yeare. 1567. and there to remaine seuen days: And to these Cities and townes folowing, Dorke, Norwiche, Exeter, Lincolne, Couentrie, Southampton, Hull, Bristol, Newcastle, Chester, Ipswich, Sarisbury, Orforde, Cambridge and Shrewesbury, in the Realme of Englande, and Dublyn and Waterforde in the Realme of Ireland, at any time within the space of three weekes next after the publication of this Lotterie in euery of the sayd seuerall places, and there to remaine also seuen whole days, without any molestation or arrest of them for any maner of offense, sauing treason, Murder, pyracie, or any other felonie, or for breach of hir Maiesties peace, during the time of their comming, abiding, or retourne.

AND that every person aduenturing their Money in this Lotterie, may haue the like libertie in comming and departing to and from the Citie of London, during all the time of the reading of the same Lotterie, vntill their last aduenture be to them answered.

ALSO that who soeuer vnder one deuise, prose, or poesie, shall aduenture to the number of Thirtie Lottes and vptward, within thre Monethes next folowing after the sayd feast of saint Bartholomew, and by the hazarde of the prices contained in this Lotterie, gaineth not the thirde pennie of so much as they shall haue aduentured, the same thirde pennie, or so much as wanteth of the same, shall be allowed vnto them in a yearely pencion, to begin from the day when the reading of the sayd Lotterie shall ende, and to continue yearely during their life.

VVHOSOEVER shall gaine the best, seconde, and thirde great prizes, hauing not put in the posies (wherebinto the sayd prizes shall be answerable) into the Lotterie, within three Moneths next after the said feast of Saint Bartholomew, shall haue abated and taken out of the summe of Money contained in the sayd best price, One hundredth and fiftie pounds, and of the sayd second price One hundredth pounds, and out of the said third price foure score pounds, to be giuen to any towne corporate, or Hallen, or any other place, for any good and charitable vse, as the partie shall name and appoint in writing.

AND who soeuer shall gaine a Hundredth poundes or bpward, in any price, sauing the three seuerall best prizes next afore mentioned, hauing not put in his Lots, wherby he shall gaine any such price, within three moneths next folowing the sayd feast of Saint Bartholomew, shall haue abated and deducted (as aboue is sayd) out of euery Hundred poundes Five poundes, to be employed as is next before sayd.

VVHOSOEVER hauing put in Thirtie Lottes vnder one deuise or polie, within the sayd three Moneths, shall winne the last Lot of all, (if before that Lot wonne he haue not gained so much as hath ben by him put in,) shall for his long tarying and yll fortune be comforted with the reward of Two hundredth poundes, and for euery Lot that he shall haue put in bisydes the sayd Thirtie Lots, he shall haue Twentie shillings sterling.

AND who so euer hauing put in .xxx. Lots vnder one deuise or polie, within the sayd three Moneths, shall win the last Lot saue one, & haue not gained so much as he hath put in, shall likewise be comforted for his long tarying, with the reward of .C. poundes, and for euery Lot that he shall haue put in aboue .xxx. shall receiue Ten shillings sterling.

ITEM who so euer shall aduenture from fortie Lottes bpwarde, vnder one deuise or polie, shall haue libertie to lay dovne the one halfe in readie Money, and giue in bond for the other halfe, to the Comissioner that in that behalfe shall be appointed to haue the Charge for that Citie or Towne, where the partie shall thinke good to pay his money, with condition to pay in the same money, for the which they shall be bound, Six weekes at the least before the day appointed for the Reading of the Lotterie, vpon payn to forfeite the Money payde, and the benefit of any price. Which day of reading shall begyn within the Citie of London the .xxv. day of June next comming.

AND in case it shall fortune the same day of the Reading to be prolonged vpon any vrgent needfull cause to a further day: The parties hauing aduentured and put their money into the Lotterie, shall be allowed for the same, after the rate of Ten in the Hundred, from the day of the prorogation of the sayd Reading, untill the very day of the first Reading of the Lotterie.

ITEM euery person to whome in the time of Reading any price shall happen and be due, the same price shall be deliuered vnto him the next day folowing, to dispose of the same at his pleasure, without that he shall be compelled to tary for the same until the ende of the reading. And being a straunger borne, he shall haue libertie to conuert the same being money, into wares to be by him transported into foraine parts, paying only half custome for the same, and other duties that otherwise he should answer therfore.

VVHOSOEVER at the time of the Reading shall haue three of his owne polies or deuises comming together successiuelly and immediatly one after another, the same hauing put in the sayd three posies within thre Moneths (as before) shall haue for the same polies or deuises, so comming together one after another, Three poundes sterling, ouer and bisydes the price answerable therfore.

AND who soeuer at the time of the reading shall haue foure polies or deuises comming together successiuelly and immediatly one after another, hauing put in his sayd polies within three Moneths, (as before mentioned) shall haue for the sayd foure polies or deuises Six poundes sterling bisydes the prizes.

AND who so euer at the time of the reading shall haue fiue polies or deuises comming together successiuelly and immediatly one after another, hauing put in his Lottes within three Moneths (as before) shall haue for the sayd fiue polies or deuises, Ten poundes sterling bisydes the prizes.

AND who so euer shall haue the like aduerture six tymes together, hauing put in his Lots, as afore, shall haue for those .vi. polies or deuises .xxv. Poundes sterling, & the prizes.

AND who soeuer shall haue like aduerture seuen tymes together hauing put in his Lots (as afore) shall haue for those .vij. polies or deuises a hundredth pounds sterling & his prizes.

AND who soeuer shall haue the like aduerture eight tymes together, hauing put in his Lots (as afore) shall haue for those .viii. Two hundredth poundes sterling, & the prizes.

AND so the polies or deuises resorting together by increase of number, he to whom they shall happen in that sorte, hauing put in his money, as afore is sayd, shall haue for euery tyme of increase, One hundredth poundes sterling, and the prizes.

THE Receipt & Collection of this present Lotterie shall endure for the rest of the Reame bisydes London, until the .xv. day of April next coming, which shall be in the yere. 1568.

AND the Receipt and Collection of the Citie of London shall continue vnto the first day of May next following: At which dayes or before, all the Collectours shall bring in their booke of the collection of Lottes to such as shall be appointed to receiue their accomptes, vpon paine if they do faile so to do, to lose the profite and wages appointed to them for their trauell in that behalfe.

FINALLY it is to be vnderstanded, that hir Maiestie and the Citie of London will answer to all and singular persons hauing aduentured their money in this Lotterie, to obserue all the articles and conditions contained in the same, from point to point inuolably.

The shew of the Prizes and Rewardes aboue mencioned, shall be set vp to be seene in Cheape-side in London, at the signe of the Quenes Maiesties Armes, in the house of M. Dericke, Goldsmith, seruant to the Quenes most excellent Maiestie.

GOD save the Queene.

Imprinted at London in Pater noster Rowe, by Henrie Bynneman.